A Wedge to Drive.

Ask all the questions you choose about our goods. We have a storefull of information at your beck. That's our platform of frankness.

Wanamaker's isn't the ordinary sort of ready-made clothing; nor conducted under ordinary ideas of trade.

What is the ordinary way? Buy and take the risks, isn't it? Your eyes are your market. Grumble when you get home that they weren't keener. Not so with us; not so. Bring it back, if you buy and don't feel satisfied you've got just what you wanted. Take your money again.

Our make of clothing merits such fairness. It has had our care at every stage of its manufacture. We can't afford to sell it as we were glad to be rid of it in any fashion.

The advantages of the largest facilities and twenty-five years' experience were put to their best to produce it. We can't sell such clothing by the same rules as the common sort—we say it again.

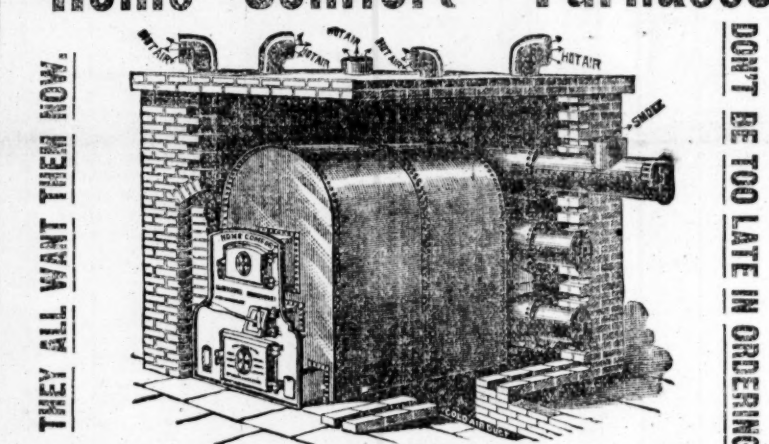

But, as manufacturers, we're in position to make prices that can't be cut under. Compare our goods and these.

Down—The Champions Meet With a Rousing Reception on Their Own Grounds—Bennett Presented With a Wheel-Barrow Load of Silver Dollars—The New-Made Champions Do Justice to Their Fellow Citizens' Opinion of Them—The Score: Detroit, 6; St. Louis, 3.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

St. Louis, October 24.—The sun was shining pleasantly this afternoon when at 2 o'clock the Detroit and the St. Louis Browns stepped on the ball field at Recreation Park to play the thirteenth game in the series which is rapidly approaching its end. All arrangements have been made for the big banquet which will be tendered to the world's champions and to the ex-champions to-night at the Russell House. The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock and at 11 o'clock the special train will leave for Chicago where the teams play to-morrow.

THE BATTING ORDER of the game to-day was as follows: St. Louis—Latham, 1b.; Gleason, s. s.; O'Neil, l. f.; Comiskey, 1b.; Caruthers, p.; Foutz, r. f.; Welch, c. f.; Robinson, 2b.; Bushong, c.

Detroit—Richardson, 2b.; Sutcliffe, 1b.; Rowe, s. s.; Thompson, r. f.; White, 3b.; Twichell, l. f.; Gangel, c. f.; Hanlon, c. f.; Baldwin, p.

Sutcliffe has been recently signed by Detroit from one of the Northwestern League Clubs. There was a very good crowd present, notwithstanding that the main question has been settled and that the weather was anything but pleasant for a baseball game. The audience was estimated at 2,000. The Browns were the first on the field and they were followed by a weak brass band with red coats. White seconded outside for a short time for effect, and when they did appear they received a really enthusiastic welcome.

THE GAME

began with Gaffney to watch the plate, Kelly the bases and the Detroit at the bat.

For Detroit, Richardson hit to Latham, who stopped the ball cleverly and threw him out. Sutcliffe perished in the same way and Gleason's assist retired Rowe.

For the Browns, Latham got his base on balls. A passed ball gave him second. Gleason's easy liner was caught by Sutcliffe. O'Neil was retired by Sutcliffe, and Latham went to third and scored on Comiskey's hit over second. Comiskey stole second, but Caruthers struck out. One run.

SECOND INNING.

For the Browns, Foutz hit a high fly, which fell safe, and scored on White's three bagger to center. Twichell flew out to Welch and Comiskey's liner to center. Gleason's assist put Hanlon. Two runs.

For the Browns, Foutz was put out by Richardson and Sutcliffe, Welch flew out to Richardson and Robinson was thrown out by Rowe.

THIRD INNING.

For Detroit, Baldwin struck out, Richardson fouled out to Bushong and Sutcliffe was thrown out by Robinson.

For Detroit, Bushong's fly fell into Hanlon's hands, Latham hit to Rowe, who threw him out and Gleason died on hitting to Richardson.

FOURTH INNING.

For Detroit, Rowe hit to third, and went to that base on Thompson's hit to first. Thompson stole second and Rowe scored on Gleason's error in returning White's grounder. Twichell flew out to Welch and Thompson and White advanced. Thompson was thrown out at home, Gangel stole second. Hanlon flew out to Welch. One run.

The Jury in the Case of Millionaire Morrow

Fail to Agree.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. The jury in the case of Robert Morrow, the millionaire boulder, failed to agree and has been discharged. Morrow's bonds were fixed at $25,000, and he was released on bail. Mr. Flannery, the prosecuting attorney, made an eloquent speech, in which he alluded in scathing terms to the witnesses whose evidence would have convicted Morrow had not his gold bought their silence. ## IS GARRETT INSANE?

THE EX-RAILROAD KING LABORING UNDER A HEAVY MENTAL STRAIN.

His Actions Convince His Family and Friends That He Is in a Sad Condition.
—A Sensational Scene at the Maryland Club—Accusing Friends of Being Gouged—Men-Queer Antics in the Streets—An Exciting Episode at the Railroad Depot.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, Md., October 24.—There seems now to be no doubt that Robert Garrett, the deceased President of the Baltimore & Annapolis Road, is afflicted mentally. His actions since his return to Baltimore have more than convinced his relatives and friends that he is in a sad condition, and they have used the utmost precaution to keep the knowledge of his condition secret, but without avail. Whenever he was in the city he was closely shadowed by a physician, who alone gave rise to a suspicion that something was wrong, and his actions have more than confirmed that belief.

Some there are who term his affliction softening of the brain, while others say it is simply a giving way of his nervous system. His physician, Dr. M. S. Gorton, a day or two ago admitted to the Post-Dispatch reporter that Mr. Garrett was laboring under a heavy mental strain, but he was hopeful that rest and change of living would restore his health.

When Mr. Garrett left New York two weeks ago rumors were circulated that he was insane. His friends in Baltimore, however, who were present at his departure, and especially the members of the Maryland Club, of which Mr. Garrett is a member. Their opinions were changed, however, before twenty-four hours had elapsed.

The Monday following his arrival he drove in from his country residence and stopped for a short time at the club. Here he met a number of his associates who attempted to congratulate him on his safe voyage.

From Europe. Mr. Garrett, however, seemed to be at a loss to understand, and what was going on and appeared to care for nothing but telegraph talk, that is to say, the B. & O. telegraph to Jay Gould. As soon as he got fully started on this subject he became very much excited—so much so that it was deemed best by his brother-in-law, Mr. Frick, to lead him to his carriage. He was then driven home.

This, of course, created the talk among club men, but no particular attention was paid to it, as it was thought he was under excited, owing to the terrible strain that had been put on him during the last twelve months.

It was only a few days after, though, that they were convinced that something was wrong. This impression was brought about in a manner that is still fresh in the minds of those who were present.

On the occasion of his first visit to the Maryland Club, which took place on the 10th inst., he was accompanied by a number of his associates who were present and he did not remain long, but later in the day he called on his wife and he walked into the reception room where several gentlemen were sitting together discussing the coming of the day.

Mr. Garrett, who was in the most excited manner imaginable, exclaimed: "I have been sold out to you!"

"What do you mean?" said one of them, "we're not friends of Gould, but your friends?"

"We were not talking about the sale of the railroad," he said, "but about the sale of your affairs."

"What do you mean?" exclaimed he excitedly, "I know you were, and you were saying how glad you were that I had been deceived. You said that the railroad was sold to Gould."

He was quieted after awhile, and began conversing as calmly as any of the other gentlemen. In a short time he left the club and was being driven down Charles street.

When the carriage had nearly reached the Baltimore street crossing, he suddenly jumped out and went on to the sidewalk, where he made a very low courtesy to the ladies who were standing near the head of the street, and then he walked on.

He was followed by a number of his associates, who were walking on the sidewalk, and he was seen to be in a very excited manner.

WAS HE MURDERED?

The Strange Death of the Chief Witness in a Murder Case.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., October 24.—Henry Bonhays, a young local attorney, was found dead in a little room in a small boarding-house here yesterday. By his side was an empty bottle of cyanide of potassium, with three letters. One letter was addressed to Dr. J. Milton Bowers, now in this country on his way to be hanged for murdering his wife by poison.

Two years ago. The second letter relates to paying a small bill. The contents of the third is unknown, as the Coroner and the Captain of police carried it away secretly and refused to divulge its contents. Here is the letter to Bowers:

I ask that you do not molest my mother. I am not responsible for my acts. I make no preparation in my power. I likewise caution you against some of our friends who knew Cecilia as a husband only should. Among them are C. M. McClain, C. E. Eisenheim, J. Horn and others. I cannot think of them now, but you will find some of our friends when the money is stolen. I have written you from Cecilia is found. I think you will find many of our diamonds changed for paste. Cecilia lost the money in a store. I am well.

Yours, H. BONHAYS.

City, October 24.

It seems for the past week that Bonhays had been advertising for a lost memorandum book, which the letter refers to. To be versant with the horrible details of the Bowers case, this suicide and letter bears a mysterious importance. Bowers is a disreputable, coarse, half-crazed creature, who has been known to have already lost two wives and a child and sudden circumstances in the East. He came here and married a respectable woman, Cecilia Bonhays. She died mysteriously. He was arrested for having poisoned her with phosphorus. The trial was a very sensational. The evidence proved Bowers had been a hidden monster. His familiarity with all sorts of poisons was a fact, and yet used by him most craftily and cleverly in his own defense. He claimed that he had given to his wife to heal illness, but the testimony was so completely against him that he was sentenced to be hanged. His money for her was well off, served to bring to his aid political bosses and strong legal talent. The chief witness against him was Henry Bonhays, brother of the murdered woman. The story Henry Bonhays was found dead to-day. He was always a strange man, but that he should thus go back on his former unexcused friend.

Since his condemnation, Bowers has succeeded in getting his execution postponed continually, and the way he has managed things with his political pull has been scandalous. He has always looked on his wife as a possession, and so have his "rough" friends. Now comes a dreadful doubt. Did Henry Bonhays commit suicide, and did he write the letter to Bowers? Or did he murder his wife and then commit suicide? It is a mystery.

There is considerable work being done now by friends of St. Louis to secure the convention which is to nominate the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency, to meet at this city. All the politicians of prominence in the State are interested in the work, and the entire State Congressional delegation can be counted on for assistance. But it is also true that the friends of other cities, the politicians of the State and Congressional delegations can be counted on to work against St. Louis. It is only by aggressiveness that St. Louis can win. The practice of the Illinois Club of Chicago has been to begin a contest for the conventions of both parties nearly a year before the time for the meeting. The Republicans were solicited by private citizens and local officials of that party; the Democrats were solicited by the club organization, and all of its individuals. The only similar organization in this city is the Illinois Club, which has been organized for some time. It is only by aggressiveness that St. Louis can win.
